in charge here to-day. The worries of manager lay on Doyle so heavily that he did not make a hit. Benny Kauff delivered a single to centre in the sixth, his first hit in three days. The Giants missed the bludgeon of George Kelly, whose only hit, was wasted. However, Kelly failed only once, he was up three times and was once, he was up three times and was hit by the pitcher once. Nor did he have ortunities to throw runners out first base. Kauff stole Kelly's favorite play in the eighth inning when he picked up a base hit and by heaving the ball on a line to Rariden cut off a run at the plate. As the Giants were favored by no Houston misplays and Criss gave the only base on balls of the game, the rowd joshed the New Yorkers unmerci-

Evans and Vardon can't putt. Neither can they outstare the sun when that familiar luminary is flashing its most brilliant rays, a condition as conducive golfing weakness on their part, judging from the habitually microscopic size of their scores, as inability to putt.

And of all the tribes in baseball not the least illustrious are the Collinses. The presence of Jimmy and Eddie alone would be sufficient to shed lustre on the name, for Jimmy was the best third baseman of them all, and that is considerable praise, when it is remembered that among them all have been such fine workmen as Leach, Devlin, Bradley and Lord; and Eddie is the game's most valuable second baseman, except Evers.

In a former era Hub Collins, the Brooklyn second baseman, was a high class player, and Ray Collins, retiring this year, was a capable left handed pitcher. John Collins is the White Sox's hard hitting outfielder and first baseman, and Eddar Collins, late of the Enryet was second in the fancy dive, while Macahado of Harvard was second in the 50 yard swim.
